College of Education | Major Entry Information

Entry into education majors requires students to maintain a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.75 to successfully cross the Bridge into their intended program. In addition, students must satisfy the Praxis Core requirement (either by testing or qualifying for a waiver—details are provided to Bridge students separately).

To enter directly into an education program and advance to professional-level coursework at Clemson, Bridge students must meet the following requirements by the end of their Bridge year:

1. Earn a cumulative GPA of 2.75 or higher
2. Satisfy the Praxis Core requirement through one of the following:
    - Earn an SAT score of 1100 or higher, or
    - Earn an ACT score of 22 or higher, or
    - Take and pass the Praxis Core exam (www.ets.org/praxis)
3. Complete all Bridge program requirements, including:
    - Earning at least 30 credit hours
    - Maintaining a minimum of 2.5 GPA

What if a student does not meet major entry requirements?
If a Bridge student does not meet all program-specific requirements, they may need to complete additional semesters or summer coursework to fulfill requirements in math, modern languages, or other prerequisite courses.

Students who do not meet the minimum 2.75 GPA requirement will not be eligible for direct admission into a College of Education program. However, these students may:

- Transition to Clemson in an alternate major, and
- Explore the change-of-major application process after enrolling at Clemson

Please note that additional coursework may delay graduation for some students.

Education Engagement Opportunities

What co- and/or extracurricular activities should I get involved in at Clemson?
There are many great ways to get involved at Clemson, especially within the College of Education, that will help you build connections, develop professionally, and prepare for your future career. I recommend exploring a mix of organizations, professional development opportunities, and advising events, such as:

- Clemson CoE Student Chapter of the Palmetto State Teachers Association (PSTA)
- Clemson CoE Student Chapter of Aspiring Educators (SCEA)
- Teaching Children of Poverty Scholars (TCOPS) through the Center of Excellence
- Behavior Alliance of South Carolina learning modules to strengthen classroom readiness
- Other Clemson clubs and organizations to broaden your involvement and interests

Additionally, be sure to stay engaged with advising and college events:

- Attend Bridge Advise-A-Thon and "Are You On Track" events to connect with College of Education advisors
- Participate in College of Education Open House events, held on the first Friday of each month

Getting involved in these opportunities will help you build a strong support network, gain valuable experience, and feel more prepared as you move into your education program.

Are there any co- and/or extracurricular activities I should get involved in at Tri-County?
Get involved at Tri-County by connecting early with campus partners and using resources like career services, tutoring, and student clubs. The TCTC and Bridge offices also provide helpful support, and engaging with them early will make your transition to Clemson smoother.

What opportunities should I be looking into, that will look good for my resume?
To strengthen your resume, get involved in student organizations and clubs, pursue leadership roles, and seek hands-on experience by working in afterschool programs, substituting in local schools, or volunteering with youth and families, while also participating in leadership development activities.

Should I prepare for higher education (a Master's or Doctoral degree) in my field?
You are not required to pursue a Master's or Doctoral degree for most education careers, but Clemson's College of Education offers several strong options if your career goals call for advanced study. These include:

- Teacher Residency (M.A.T.)
- Teaching & Learning (M.Ed.)
- Educational Leadership (M.Ed./Ed.S.)
- Counselor Education (M.Ed./Ed.S.)
- Athletic Leadership (M.S.)
- Literacy (M.Ed.)

Pursuing an advanced degree can open doors to specialized roles, leadership positions, or higher earning potential, but the decision should be based on your long-term career goals and interests.

Are there any experiential learning opportunities I can participate in when I get to Clemson?
Clemson offers many experiential learning opportunities through the College of Education that help you gain hands-on experience and explore your interests. These include:

- Engagement events: Tiger Prowl, CoE Student Organization Fair
